PUSH-TO-TALK DEVICES: ADAPTING COMMUNICATIONS IN THE AGE OF SOCIAL DISTANCING

Effective workplace communication has never been more essential than now as we practice social distancing. Industries such as healthcare, manufacturing, transportation and logistics, and restaurants that provide critical supplies and services are relying on their communications technology more than ever. We are here to help!

KEEP YOUR STAFF AND CLIENTS SAFE WITH SOCIAL DISTANCING TOOLS

Two-way radios are a quick and easy-to-use communication tool that businesses are turning to for adhering to social distancing guidelines. Whether you are using your radios for the first time or depending on them more than ever, we would like to offer you a few tips to help you stay safe while focusing on your work.

RADIO HEALTH & SAFETY TIPS

If possible, avoid sharing radios during or between shifts to avoid cross-contamination. If this is not possible, clean your radios every time they change hands.

CLEANING AND SANITIZING

Ensure your communications equipment is properly disinfected and that your team has the solutions needed to get their jobs done effectively. Thoroughly clean your radios, body-worn cameras, and accessories on a regular basis.

GET THE RIGHT ACCESSORIES TO REDUCE CROSS CONTAMINATION

Consider providing employees with their own accessories to attach to shared radios to minimize the handling of the radios and the need to bring them to the face. Nearly all radios can be used with accessories like wearable earpieces, remote speaker microphones, and headsets, both wired and wireless.

CUT THROUGH THE NOISE AND MAINTAIN SOCIAL DISTANCE

Think about the settings in which your radios will be used. In loud environments, the right device with the right accessory can easily cut through the noise, eliminating the need for staff to stand close and speak loudly to each other.

QUICKLY DEPLOYABLE SOLUTIONS

If you are finding yourself taking a fresh look at your communications due to social distancing, know that you are not alone. Many business environments have changed overnight; organizations may be short-staffed, pressed for time, or trying to train hundreds of new employees. No matter how simple or complex your communications needs, Motorola push-to-talk radios are the most reliable and intuitive means of connecting your organization.

Thank you for your continued support, and we will come out of this stronger than ever, together.
